Paragraph 105 of the Designation Order calls for each exchange carrier to provide as part of its direct case evidence of and description of the information underscored in the following:

(1) Ranges of data on the age of the work force.

GTE Response: The ranges of data on the age of the work force used in the SFAS-106 actuarial study is provided in Attachment 1.

(2) Ages at which employees will retire.

GTE Response: The approximate average retirement ages utilized for the actuarial study for SFAS-106 is 60 for Nonunion and 61 for Union.

(3) Length of service of retirees.

GTE Response: Attachment 1 also provides a summary of the years of service at retirement used in the valuation for SFAS-106.

7. GTE furnishes the pertinent sections of employee handbooks, union contracts, and other items in response to paragraph 105 of the Designation Order.

GTE Response: Attachment 2 provides a copy of pertinent items addressing the company's ability to modify its post-employment benefits. Brochures/election forms used by GTE for all its employees contain a provision reserving the company's right to make changes. These provisions are in two forms:

First:

Although GTE intends to continue the coverage and provisions as outlined in the brochure, GTE reserves the right to terminate, alter or revise the plan coverage and provisions.

Second:

GTE plans to continue offering the Retiree Health Benefits Plan, however, it reserves the right to change, modify or terminate benefits.

How should price cap LECs reflect amounts from prior year sharing or low-end adjustments in computing their rates of return for the current year's sharing and low-end adjustments to price cap indices?

1. Introduction

In response to the Annual Filings, AT&T had raised the issue that certain price cap LECs had improperly implemented their sharing and low-end adjustments. Specifically, the issue is whether the price cap rules require LECs to compute their rates of return for the price cap sharing and low-end adjustment mechanisms in basically the same manner as rate of return carriers do in determining overearnings.³⁰ The Designation Order suspended the affected rates of the LECs which had sharing or a lower formula adjustment ("LFAM"), imposed an accounting order and initiated an investigation.

Commission can initiate a rulemaking to determine future policies, administrative fairness requires that past actions be determined by the rules and policies in effect at that time. The Annual Filings, therefore, should be evaluated for reasonableness based upon the rules already in effect.

Moreover, GTE considers it unfortunate that the Commission is inclined to intervene so quickly in the LEC price cap plan; seemingly second guessing its own rules. To pull out this single issue to be reviewed in isolation at this time appears to be a piece-meal approach.

The Commission has two options if it believes these rules require clarification, or more accurately modification. First, it may, and has, proposed changes to its current acclimation could result in regulatory ambiguity, and resulting uncertainty, that would effectively stifle the intended incentives.³³

A fair evaluation of the overall price cap plan including this add-back proposal, the treatment and definition of exogenous changes, and many other proposals will be best performed as part of that comprehensive review.

Prior year's sharing and low-end adjustments should not be used in

This cap lowering is clearly different than the refunds which were part of rate of return regulation and is not intended to achieve the same result. Under rate of return, the refund actually reduced cash for the overearning LEC. No such exchange of cash exits under price caps; rather, the cap on prices ("PCI") the LEC will charge in the succeeding tariff year is reduced. In effect, sharing creates a potential future price reduction. It should not be added back to the LEC's overall earnings as the Commission suggests in the Designation Order and the NPRM. The idea of "adding back" a sharing amount to the subsequent year's earnings would overstate the LEC's actual earnings, double count shared earnings, carry the effect of sharing into multiple periods and treat sharing as if it were a refund.

In its original proposal of sharing, the Commission anticipated that sharing would be calculated based on a LEC's base year earnings.

Based on a LEC's earnings level during the base year for that filing, we would determine if earnings were above the level that triggers sharing.³⁷

The Commission confirmed that sharing is to be calculated based upon past year's earnings.³⁸ The rules clearly dictate that sharing is to be determined based on a LEC's earnings for that the period, not earnings plus prior period sharing. Inclusion of prior period sharing in this determination would inflate a LEC's earnings levels with revenues which were not realized in the monitored period. Moreover, this add-back could result in the LEC actually sharing much more than the prescribed sharing percentage due to the inclusion of the same shared earnings in two separate monitoring report calculations. Earnings should only flow through the sharing mechanism one time, i.e., a one time PCI adjustment.

Supplemental Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, CC Docket No. 87-313, 5 FCC Rcd 2228 (1990) at ¶171. ("Supplemental Notice")

The original proposal of sharing also describes the Commission's intended calculation and application of sharing as an exogenous cost adjustment that would enable ratepayers to share earnings above a certain level during the course of the upcoming price cap tariff year. At the end of the year, an upward exogenous cost adjustment would be made to reflect the fact that sharing of the excess earnings had been completed.³⁹

The completed sharing benefit prescribed in the price cap rules is a one-time reduction in the PCI just as originally proposed.

The customer share plus interest will be returned in the form of a one-time [emphasis added] reduction in the PCI for the next rate period, calculated in the same manner as other exogenous changes in the formula.⁴⁰

Furthermore, the sharing mechanism operates only as a one-time [emphasis added] adjustment to a single year's rates, so a LEC would not risk affecting future earnings . . . ⁴¹

A reduction in the PCI as a result of sharing does not necessarily result in an equivalent reduction in rates. LECs are not required to hold prices to the cap, in fact, many have elected to hold prices below the cap. The benefit to be shared with the customer is only a reduction in the cap under which the next rate period's prices must be set.

³⁹ Supplemental Notice at ¶171, n.290.

LEC Price Cap Order at ¶124.

^{41 &}lt;u>Id. at ¶136.

Sharing was not intended to be a refund under the price cap plan and should not be treated as a refund in calculating future sharing amounts. The Commission stated in the Supplemental Notice:

We wish to clarify that the sharing devices we are proposing here are substantially different than the automatic refund mechanism struck down in AT&T v. FCC. supra. In that case, an automatic refund was applied to all earnings in excess of the unitary rate of return, with no corresponding automatic correction for earnings below it. In our instant proposals, however, earnings are shared with ratepayers in a manner that ensures that carriers can retain earnings within a price cap zone of reasonableness if they can generate such earnings. The sharing we propose could not force the carrier's average return below the zone of reasonableness earnings we propose to create. Our proposal to increase prospectively a carrier's price cap indexes to the lower "formula adjustment" level ensures that carriers will have a reasonable opportunity to earn within the price cap zone of reasonableness.⁴²

The suggestion that sharing should be treated as if it were a refund is an attempt to pull price caps further back toward rate of return regulation which the Commission has tried to move away from for AT&T and the larger LECs. Add-back is plainly not supported in the price cap plan.

To support the fact that sharing was not intended to be treated as a refund, a review of the history of the development of the sharing, or backstop, mechanism is appropriate. In the Second Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking ("Second Further Notice"), the Commission had considered certain backstop mechanisms:⁴³ the automatic stabilizer (permanent PCI adjustment) and sharing (one-time PCI adjustment); the shortened review of price cap plan; and the refund mechanism

⁴² Supplemental Notice at ¶172.

Second Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, CC Docket No. 87-313, 4 FCC Rcd 2873 (1989).

At this stage, the Commission tentatively adopted the automatic stabilizer with sharing. When the LEC Price Cap Order was released, the Commission had formally adopted a backstop mechanism which only included sharing, while excluding the automatic stabilizer, on the grounds that this mechanism was simpler and more flexible. Furthermore, it ruled that this sharing mechanism "operates only as a one-time adjustment to a single year's rates, so a LEC would not risk affecting future earnings, as it would in the case of the stabilizer" previously considered.⁴⁴

The Commission was convinced to reject the permanent effect of the automatic stabilizer on the grounds specifically presented by GTE, in its Comments, that the stabilizer would create "perverse incentives" which might seriously harm the LECs when they had a productive year. While the Commission adopted the sharing proposal, and rejected the automatic stabilizer, it failed to adopt the other two backstop mechanisms, in particular, a refund. Based on the history of the price cap proceeding, the Commission must find that the current rules exclude a refund mechanism, alias the add-back adjustment.

The low-end adjustment is also based on a LEC's actual earnings under the existing price cap rules. The amount by which current year earnings fall beneath the lower formula adjustment mark is also used as a one-time adjustment to temporarily increase the PCI in the subsequent rate period.

If the earnings of a LEC whose rates are set below the PCI fall below the lower adjustment mark in a base period, it is entitled to adjust its rates upward to target earnings to an amount not to exceed the lower mark, using the prior period as the baseline.⁴⁶

LEC Price Cap Order at ¶136.

^{45 &}lt;u>Id. at ¶134.

^{46 &}lt;u>Id. at ¶127.

The arguments against "adding back" sharing would also hold true for the low-end adjustment. Consistency dictates that they be treated in a similar fashion. The low-end adjustment is a short term solution for company specific productivity issues or local economic downturns. A rate case may be required if plan results become confiscatory in the long term. The Commission recognized the possibility of this occurrence and has directly addressed this situation in the price cap plan.⁴⁷

In summary: The current rules clearly require a one-time adjustment for sharing or LFAM that the add-back would violate. The Commission must abandoned its suspension of tariffs in conjunction with the add-back issue and defer clarification of its rules to either the NPRM or the four year comprehensive review.

Issue 6: Have the LECs properly reallocated GSF costs in accordance with the GSF Order?

1. Introduction

On May 19, 1993, the Commission released the GSF Order⁴⁸ directing LECs to file revised rates, to be effective July 1, 1993, to reflect the reallocation of GSF costs from traffic sensitive and special access to common line. Using the rates proposed in the 1993 Annual Access tariff filings as a base, the GSF Filings proposed revised rates based upon the reallocation as an exogenous change. Oppositions to the GSF Filings were due to be filed June 23, 1993, the same day the Designation Order was released. The Designation Order (at 104) Acknowledging that, due to the limited time within which to conduct a review of issues concerning the GSF Filings, the Commission determined, in "an abundance" of caution, to suspend the proposed rates and to make them subject to the instant investigation.

^{47 &}lt;u>Id. at ¶165.

2. The General Support Facility cost reallocations are correct as filed.

The reallocations proposed in GTE's GSF Filings are correct and in full compliance with the Commission's Rules. Significantly, no parties filed in opposition to the GTE filings.⁴⁹ Since no issues have been raised by opposing parties or the Commission (other than a concern for the timing), GTE does not believe that this issue requires further elaboration or investigation.

Issue 7: To what category or categories should the LIDB per query charges be assigned?

1. Introduction

The GTOCs and several other LECs introduced Line Information Data Base ("LIDB") as a new service in 1992.⁵⁰ As required by the price cap rules for new services, LIDB was included in the 1993 Annual Access tariff filing. The GTOCs placed LIDB in the traffic sensitive basket. The demand for this service was then included in determining the weights used to calculate the Actual Price Index ("API") for the traffic sensitive basket. The Designation Order directs LECs to address the appropriate category or categories for the LIDB per query charge.

The GSF Filings were filed on 14 days' notice. Oppositions were due by June 23, 1993.

The GSTC companies do not offer LIDB.

2. LIDB query charges should be included in the traffic sensitive basket since the costs associated with LIDB are part of the tandem access costs which are in the transport category.

GTE believes this element is correctly placed in the traffic sensitive basket as the costs associated with LIDB are part of the tandem access costs which are in the transport category. As the Designation Order (at para 62) points out, all of the price cap LECs, except United, included LIDB in the transport category. GTE does not believe that it is appropriate to place this service in the switching category because it is part of the tandem access costs which are in the transport category.

Accordingly, GTE has properly justified its Annual Access tariff filings as supported by this Direct Case.

ABOUT YOUR MEDICAL PLAN

Most of us take reasonable precautions to guard our health and safety. Despite this, statistics show that virtually everyone will sometime, somehow, have an injury or illness serious enough to require a stay in the hospital. When that happens, we want the best health care possible for ourselves and our families.

Unfortunately, quality health care comes at a high price. While modern, lifesaving technology has become available to everyone, it is increasingly expensive. This makes the protection your medical plan offers particularly valuable.

The plan pays benefits for hospital charges, doctors' bills, surgery, outpatient services, diagnostic tests, home health care, and a wide variety of other medical services and supplies. The plan has been designed to help you and your family receive top quality health care when you need it most, while providing incentives for you to be an intelligent consumer of medical care. Two of these incentives are Patient Advocate and, if your location participates, a preferred provider organization (PPO). It's important to keep these features in mind because their use ensures that you receive maximum benefits.

GTE sponsors one master plan for group medical benefits for all eligible employees. Within this overall plan, there are separate descriptions of these benefits, based on the actual benefits offered by different GTE business groups. This booklet describes the medical benefits for the participating regular full-time and part-time hourly employees of GTE North Incorporated in Michigan IBEW Local 1106. They are covered by collective bargaining agreements made with GTE.

January 1, 1992 is the date changes were most recently made in the plan.

This booklet also describes retiree medical coverage for eligible participating employees who retire on or after January 1, 1992. See the section, "When You Retire," for more information.

In this booklet, we've tried to describe your medical benefits as much as possible in every-day language. But some terms have specific meanings. To help you understand these terms, we have summarized them in a glossary of terms on the last three pages of this booklet. It may help for you to refer to the glossary while you're reading. If you have questions after reading this material, contact your benefits representative.

Instead of this plan, you can choose to have coverage under a health maintenance organization (HMO) if you live in the service area of an LiMO offered at your location. See the section, "Health Maintenance Organizations (HMOs)," for more information. When you retire, you are no longer eligible to participate in an HMO.

IF YOU'RE IN AN HMO

If you're in an HMO when coverage ends, you'll have the same continuation rights under the HMO as you

IF THE PLAN IS ENDED OR MODIFIED
